“Alfred!” Griffin yelled loudly enough the intercom box momentarily screamed with feedback. “Are you still awake?”

“No,” came the response. Jamison, Griffin’s butler, sounded irritated and murderous as usual. “I’ve died and you are here, Master Griffin. I am in Hell.”

“Good,” Griffin said, not sounding remotely insulted by his butler’s bad attitude. “Could you run into Hell’s Kitchen and make us some grilled cheeses? Like with the fancy cheese? And some fruit and healthy shit too?”

“Yes, Master Griffin. I will use the ‘fancy’ cheese. And rat poison.”

Kimberly Carrington-Fox says

Bonito y muy divertido, con esa característica mezcla de la Reisz de humor y sonarte los mocos con la lagrimilla que cae. Donde está Griffin hay risa segura y esto termina con carcajada

Claire Sayan says

These are two of my favourite characters, how could I not love this story?!

Silvia says

I love Griffin and Michael. Griffin is exactly what Michael needs and vice versa. Short and sexy. Another winner.

Maria says

Starting the year off with a few short story re reads. This is a favourite :)

K- says

Love love love love love

Katherine says

Damn. So good. I'm pretty sure I have read this short before. Don't care. It's perfect. I remember the "anal table" in Griffin's dining room, I had forgotten about the "oral ottoman" though. Snicker.

Como extrañaba a Michael y Griffin!!

Na7asha says

So happy they got a HEA!!

Melanie Cesa says

Loved seeing more of Michael & Griffin's first night together and Griffin helping to erase Michael's fears.
Love this couple!

Lou says

I love these 2!
