Keyani says

The name of this book is flirt by Nicole Clarke. It is about a high fashioned girl named Olivia Bourne-Cecil. She always relies on her parents for everything. To buy her everything so she doesn't have to get a job. She gets accepted into this fashion internship at "Flirt" and she accepts it. She is so used to be spoiled that when she goes to New York she has to adapt to that fact that she's sharing a place with five other girls. Now she has to make her own bed and wash her own dished and fend for herself. And when she meets a good in New York that makes everything much better for her. This would be a story of man vs. society. Because she's dealing with different life styles form being rich and not having to do anything to having money and having to do everything herself. I would recommend this book to others because it's very funny. And very good to read.
