Wow.... so by now we all know that I'm becoming a raving fan girl of Ellie Danes and I absolutely love the It Takes Two Matchmaking Series!

Intrigued was probably a great word to start with when I first began to read the series but it has definitely migrated beyond that at this point. Ellie Danes is a magnificent writer that can paint a picture and weave a tale together to give you this amazing story and show you these characters and set the scene. I love the way she is able to build a story that involves a reader so much so that you feel like you are apart of the story and you connect with each of the characters. This series is full of suspense, drama, romance, and some hot and steamy action, it is definitely not for the faint of heart that is for sure! This installment of the book finds Harper in a different situation she has decided to start working at the mansion and she has decided to give the relationship a go with Mason. I'm going to stop here and not give any more details *insert sigh* its a short installment which you will get through pretty quickly and I do not want to ruin it for you. I will say there are a few twists and turns and you like awe come on and ready for the next installment.

STILL LOOKING FOR LOVE !!!

Wow! I must say, I'm more than a little intrigued by It Takes Two, The Matchmaker Series by Ellie Danes. This is the fifth installment of the serial and it is absolutely captivating and a brilliant continuation of the story. Yes, I said serial. This is not a stand alone story so readers, please be forewarned. Personally, I love serials. It's like watching my favorite weekly TV shows and if you have Kindle Unlimited like I do, then it's good as gold. So, now having said that, back to the story. It's exciting, fascinating, intriguing, romantic, sensual and arousing. There are a few editing errors which are a little distracting but over all the story is well executed and the dialogue is well written, intelligent and flows beautifully. The characters are captivating, engaging and sexy as sin. Danes skillfully combines these elements to craft an enthralling and intoxicating read. Harper is a 24 year old grad student barely making ends meet on her salary from her part time job at the bar. She has always been able to match up everyone but herself. She's just unlucky in love. Hopefully, this latest breakup fiasco with Jake will teach her a lesson. And now Jake won't leave her alone! He says he's sorry! Yuk! She always falls for the wrong guys. Maybe she's just looking in all the wrong places. And after attending a disastrous mixer with her best friend and roommate Avery, she's even more convinced that she's doomed to always meet the wrong guy. Yep, just cursed never to find love. What Harper couldn't know but hopefully will soon learn, she has been noticed by Mason Asher, the 'big cheese' of matchmakers. He's handsome, charming, wealthy and knows what he wants and usually gets it. And he very much wants Harper to come back to the mansion and is not above coercing her best friend Avery to get what he wants. As a favor to Avery, Harper returns to the mansion or as I like to call it, the lion's den, and Mason finally makes an appearance to introduce himself to the lovely Harper but only as Mason. He very conveniently neglects to tell her that he's the infamous "Asher". Oh my goodness! And now he wants her to work at the mansion but Harper still doesn't know who he really is. And just how does he think he's going to get away with that and not reveal his identity? Whatever his plan, he fails miserably and now he's done the one thing that Harper can never forgive. He's committed the cardinal sin, the colossal no-no of all time - he lied - albeit a lie of omission, it's still a lie to Harper! But is his interest professional or is it personal? I think we all know by now that it's more than just professional but how much more? Can he convince her to forgive him or will her ex-boyfriend Jake finally have his revenge? Hmm...Well, I guess we'll have to continue reading to find out! I can hardly wait to read Part Six and it's already available! Fabulous entertainment and an awesome read!

Things were going great but then Harper found out who Mason really was. She feels lied to and deceived. Then the ex shows up.

Mason, Mason, Mason. For a matchmaker he is committing relationship 101 error #1. Always tell the truth, lies will come back to bite you in the ass.

With the cliffhanger at the end of this episode, I HAVE to find out how this story ends.

I loved this book so much I couldn't put it down till the end. I wanted more when it was over and checked the Authors website to see when the next parts in the series will release.

This story was very sensual and interesting. The way they made a business out of matchmaking and the way they went about doing it was different than anything I've ever heard of before. It made the whole thing a lot more exciting.

I can't wait for the continuation of the series and who will be matched next!

****I received this ARC in exchange for an honest Review.****

Cindy Caron says

Oh my! When untold secrets come to light, all Hell breaks loose. Will Harper be able to see further than the withheld truths to the reasoning behind them, or will she forgo love because of them? Mason, having finally found love, may have blown it for good, but with the women in his past, he could never be truly sure whether it was his money or him that they wanted. But his heart told him from the beginning that he could trust Harper. Why didn't he? Will they get another chance? Or will Harpers' past come between them once and for all? Oh my! Trouble is brewing. Cliff hanger alert!!! Anxiously waiting for the final episode!
