Let me start out by saying that i will be writing one review for this manga. At first i had watched the anime that was adapted from this manga and i fell in love with the characters. It is a funny, cheesy kinda gender-bender romantic plot.

Compared to the anime, the manga had far more details and other stories involved. Ok enough with the anime.

As i mentioned before the plot is a comedy, cheesy romantic, gender-bender...

Haruhi is a scholarship student at an exclusive rich high school called Ouran High School. While trying to find a quiet classroom to study in she happens to open the doors to the music room, where she was presented with the appearance of 6 handsome male students that used the room for their club Ouran High School Host Club.

Because of her appearance at the time(her father's baggy shirt, big nerdy glasses and a short messy hair style) they thought she was a boy. So as they started teasing her of being gay, during her escape she smashed a very pricey vase. Due to this accident to pay off her debt she had to become the club's dog(to do the chores).

The president soon sees her without glasses and with a few changes to her hair and wardrobe she is quickly added to the host club members. In the first volume they find out that she really is a girl but they decided not to tell anyone because she wanted to work off her debt.

Her being a girl changes the way the club members act around her. They go through a lot of adventures trying to conceal the truth about her sex, protecting her.. Some of the members fall in love with her, but that's for you readers to find out...

I have to say that through this manga you can see the difference in social status of a rich person and a poor person. What difficulties and hardships they have to overcome.

I can't believe the next volume will be the last! And that this volume ended on such a cliffhanger!

But it was nice seeing everyone come together in the final episode. I'm not ready to say goodbye to this series!

I'M SO SAD!!!

el primer manga que me leo, nunca encontraría las palabras suficientes para demostrar cuánto me encanto. Tiene risa, romance y drama. Perfecto ♥

Okay, I enjoyed the ending of the anime. It was just as crazy as the rest of it had been. But this...this is so much better! I don't think I could love Tamaki any more than I do right now. And the dedication of his friends? Of the rest of the school?! Just perfect.

Kat (Lost in Neverland) says

That....was.....

SO BEAUTIFUL!

Mandee says

This was one of my favorite volumes so far. Such sadness for all the characters fostered such a beautifully satisfying stopping point for the story.

The host club members are trying to come to terms with the end of the host club. Haruhi ponders Tamaki's actions and responds with clarity and respect for his situation, reverting back to her pre-host club self.

Through Kyoya's shrewd research, they've uncovered Chairman Suoh's plans to restore his wife's family fortune's and her health while ousting his own mother from the company she gave her husband and her life to. Though the Chairman feels victorious, Tamaki sees this as betrayal. He wanted all of them to live as family, not excluding his grandmother. Through heartfelt searching and revelation, Tamaki finds a way to touch the heart of his grandmother, connecting with her through her sorrow. However, to connect with his grandmother, he gives up the opportunity to see his mother who has come from France. Though kept on the outside, the host devises a plot to reunite Tamaki and his mother, with the help of the entire school. In the end, his grandmother gives up her grudge, Tamaki makes it to see his mother, and Haruhi confesses her love.

[La confesión es perfecta para lo que es OHC. No es una super dramática y novelesca declaración con un beso super apasionado. No, es graciosa, tierna y hermosa como lo ha sido todo el m

That last third was so good and heartwarming! I'm so happy that we are getting out of this dark period from the Host Club and back into the light but at the same time I'm not sure if I'm ready to read that final volume... But still, so happy to have more light moments again and see the members being silly!

This book is the first book that I read for the Charms Extra Credit read-a-thon for the Accio challenge (a book that's on the top of your TBR).

Miss Ryoko says

Whoa... I really really loved this volume a whole bunch. And while the ending seemed a little bit ridiculous, I didn't mind because everything was coming together so beautifully. I really have appreciated Hatori-san's characters in this shojo. Haruhi specifically. She isn't your typical female lead. She really brings a fresh, new perspective and characterization to someone who does fall in love. The storyline with Tamaki's family has been very interesting to read, and I can't even lie, I totally shed tears at the end!

One more volume to go! I simply can't wait to see how it all ends.

Ayyyyy, qué monos son todos.

Nearing the end of the series and so many things are at stake. The previous volume broke my heart with how Tamaki treated Haruhi and the end of the Host Club. Although the Suoh family relations with each other became even more strained, in this volume we get to understand their intentions and how they are not that different from each other. I love seeing Haruhi be more confident about her feelings and wanting to help a Tamaki. But really everyone was ready to help Tamaki. It just shows what a kind self-less person m'lord is. I am both excited and terrified to pick up the next volume.

Alisha says

eep! that ending tho. I need more!

Kelsey Hanson says

The tension continues to build! I admit that I was in this series for the comedy more than the drama, but I am actually impressed with the writing and how complex Tamaki's family history is. The characters do terrible things to each other, but you can see that most of them are doing these things because they are so hurt inside. It leads to a lot of complicated feelings for the characters.

The one thing that I really dislike about this series is what has been done with Hikaru and Kaurou. I HATE how Hikaru treats Haruhi. Demanding answers about her love life, telling her what she HAS to do. It made me angry! I wanted Haruhi to say "Shove off Hikaru! It's my life!" And while Hikaru has become a controlling ass, Kaurou has more or less fallen to the wayside which is surprising since a main plot of this series has been the two finding their own identities apart from each other. Turns out there's not much for personality for either of them.

Despite my frustrations, I still enjoyed this series and eagerly await the conclusion!
