I liked this book and it has a lot of mystery. I do recommend this book. This book was mostly about four children Henry, Jessie, Voilet, and Benny. They go to camp then noticed weird things happening and then have to figure it out.

Mrs. Bahns says

In this book someone is trying to scare campers off. The Aldens want to know who and why.

Hazel says

A good series for the young reader.

We've read a few books in The Boxcar Children series and we really like them. The stories are exciting and suspenseful and the children are all so independent and capable.

This story takes the family camping and our girls are eager for the weather to get warmer so we can go camping again.

There's also a subtle environmental theme to this story and I liked that the book describes how the children pick up the trash they find around the campgrounds. We will definitely look for more stories in this series at our local library.

Pretty soon, I will have read more Boxcar Children books than Rainbow Magic books. I really enjoy how the Boxcar Children always go on a trip, sometimes big and sometimes little. Another thing I like is that the children aren't under grownup supervision as much as people are in other books. I like it because I kind of wish I wasn't under as much adult supervision.

The camp-out mystery by Gertrude Chandler Warner

First time reading this author and looking forward to it because I am always looking for new books for my grandson to read.

Alden children are on their camping trip with their grandfather. Love hearing how they prepare for the trip-as they are packing the car.

They get mixed signals from others as they shop for food and check into the camp site. They wonder why not a lot of people are there and discover a lot of different reasons: noise, bats, missing things.

Lots of mysteries for the children to solve...medical emergency and love how everyone works together, everybody has their own jobs to do. What I like about listening to this book is you hear all the sounds as they happen, doors squeaking open, bags getting packed, etc

I received this book from National Library Service for my BARD (Braille Audio Reading Device).

I have read The Boxcar Children the Camp-Out Mystery by Gertrude Chandler Warner. I finished this book on 4/5/13. This book is a mystery. What I liked about this book is that it kept me on my heels. You didn't know what would happen next which really kept it interesting. Someone turned the sign that led you to the ranger station the wrong way. Then when they were sleeping there was loud music playing that was really disturbing and woke them up. Then the honey wasn't in the kitchen tent and they found it in the middle of the campsite. Also there lantern disappeared. Then 2 beams of light were flashing. Someone also stole their pancake batter. Then Grandfather Alden disappears and breaks his ankle because there was a startling blast of loud music which made him lose his balance and fall in a ravine. Then while they were sleeping there goes the loud music again. Someone was also walking around in there campsite. Then the note they left for grandfather on the picnic table was stuck to a tree with an arrow. Also there stew went missing. Someone also stole some of their bread. Then Hildy disappears. I would use the words amazing, suspenseful, interesting, and cool. Yes I would read more books by this author. I plan on reading 1 more book by this author this quarter. I would recommend this book to anyone who likes kids and mysteries.

One of my favorite childhood series. I read over a hundred of them. The first 50 or so were in order; after that I read whatever book I could get my hands on :)

I remember this one being a favorite. I was so surprised by the ending!! Totally did not see it coming.
