What The Heart Wants Jessica Gadziala

Stars Landing #2 - ALL BOOKS IN THIS SERIES ARE STANDALONE WITH REOCCURRING CHARACTERS

When ANNABELLE GOODE gets the news that a distant aunt has died, leaving her in charge of her estate and thriving farm business, she decides to leave her safe little life behind and start a new chapter in the small town known as Stars Landing.

She quickly finds how unprepared she was for the job, her gorgeous next door neighbor SAM FLYNN, or the disturbingly sexy ERIC O'REILLY.

Caught in a seemingly impossible love triangle, Anna also finds herself obsessed with finding the answers to the puzzling life of her aunt, and being taunted by an unknown and destructive enemy.

Will she choose the warm and steady Sam, or the heart-meltingly charming Eric? Will she ever learn about who, exactly, her aunt was... or who was trying to send her running out of her new found home?

A good read. The plot was well done and pulled me in from the first page. The characters were good, but the female lead got on my nerves in parts of the book. The secondary characters help make the book better then it would have been without them.

I really enjoyed how different this story is from the rest of Jessicas books. It still has her unique writting style but this one is pretty laid back in comparison to her other stories. Not as much crazy action.

I found myself enjoying the dynamics of the story. It's doesn't give away alot so it leaves you wondering who she'll choose.

The story is seamless and the characters are extremely loveable. I also love how she makes her secondary characters such a big part of her stories. I can't wait for what's next from this series.

This review is short and sweet because I'm on a roll with this series!.

I stayed up all night just to finish this sucker. It was rather pleasant so that worked out.

I won't lie, I was kind of disappointed in who she ended up with BUT it was a surprise so I kudos to Jessica Gadziala for shock factor.

I didn't expect the shocker at the end concerning her family either.

There were a few errors (spelling, punctuation, etc.) but it wasn't enough to take away from the story or disrupt the reading.

Definitely love the MC books a lot more by this author but as a reader I feel an obligation to test the waters of other books. Although I get nervous about it because I would hate to hate a book by an author I love, that wasn't the case here. I was genuinely happy with this read.

Loving this series, completely enjoyed the story and characters as a whole, but... ughhh... I've never read a love triangle and enjoyed it as a theme. It just doesn't do it for me.

Anna was lucky that Sam and Eric knew about each other (I'd have probably dnf'd it there'd been deceit) and they saw it as the best man winning - no spoiler, but I'll need 'the losers' book soon so I know he's okay!

Another Winner

5 stars I can't believe how wonderful this series is going. I couldn't put this book down. Sam was the winner, but Eric is next.

This is a very cute story. Anna, who just inherited an herb farm, finds herself torn between two completely different men who are smitten with her.

Sam is the sexy, dependable, reliable Hottie goat farmer neighbor, and Eric is the freaking gorgeous Manwhore, player, sexy, hottie who melts all women's panties and now has his sights on Anna.

This is the story of Anna figuring out which hottie is the hottie for her innocent virginal heart. I'm not giving anything away. :) Very cute story with a little mystery happening in the background. Looking forward to starting the next in the series.

I have now read the first 2 books in this series by Jessica Gadziala. Can't get enough and am about to hit the third one. I love Jessica's writing style and her characters are so much fun.. Each is an individual and that Maud! lol She's a character. Centered around the town of Stars Landing the couples who are falling in love, like it or not, are very interesting to get to know. In this second book we have Annabelle, aka Anna who just inherited a farm from her aunt MAM. There are 2 hunks very interested in Anna and she likes both of them. Who will she chose??? Half the fun is in the slow burn while she figures out who her heart belongs to. :)

4 Country Man Stars

I'm not normally A Love triangle kinda girl, But I really loved this story and I was hooked from the first chapter! I loved Anna and was so glad with who she ended up with in the end!

Highly recommend getting stuck into The Stars Landing series, if you haven't already picked it up yet.

4 Spicy Stars

Annabelle inherits a Farm in Pennsylvania and decides to try her luck with it.

In comes two of the hottest guys in town, the ever helpful boy next door Sam and Eric the bad boy mechanic!

I was actually rooting for both of them at some point because, well, they both made EXCELLENT points

Sam:

Eric:

Someone starts making things difficult for Anna and the whole town comes to her defense! Everyone is a dear in Stars Landing...well not everyone, but its such a cozy little town that I just want to grab my bags and look for a job over there.

Its an easy, fast paced and fun read...Im left craving for more.

I know some people may not want to read about a love triangle but Anna was young and naive when it came to guys. She met them both around the same time. At first both guys showed interest but backed off confusing her even more. I don't know what I would have done if two hot guys showed interest in me at the same time. I'm glad with who she picked. I can't wait to find out more about Maudes visions. I still want to know what happened to Jaime.

Dianne says

City girl goes country and the country boys go wild! Small, rural towns, close knit communities who show up to help each other out or a smoldering cauldron of gossip, whispers and conjecture? Stars Landing seems to be a little of each and when Annabelle showed up to take over the small herb farm left to her by a distant aunt, who else would become the hot topic of the day? Anna needed a change, she needed a life out from under the shadow of her mother, she needed to feel purpose in her life and this was her big chance, no matter how unusual it was that she was left this property. Enter two of the hottest guys in town, the bad boy mechanic, the definition of womanizer and the man next door, kind, sincere and oh, so helpful. Do either of them truly have feelings for her or is it a game of warring egos with her as the prize? Anna had no idea she had an inner siren just waiting to make her debut, but with whom?

All is not well in Stars Landing, beneath the country dances, the homemade jams and pies there are ugly secrets and someone doesn't want Anna to discover them. Will Anna be driven out of town before her heart and her body sort out the feelings she has for these two men?

What the Heart Wants by Jessica Gadziala's love triangle has a touch of easy going country laced throughout, no big over the top scenes, the posturing is more cute than fierce, but that mystery, unravels like a live wire sparking high voltage everywhere. From the quirky town waitress to the rich family on the hill, the characters are everything you'd imagine in a small town. The three main characters play off each other nicely with no heavy drama, but definitely with some sweet, cute, funny and a little racy moments. Nice, fluffy summer reading to fit between the day to day live events!

I love and can't get enough of this author's darker series and Stars Landing was the only series I hadn't read of hers. It's more on the lighter side and mostly is centered around the small town in PA and its close knit residents. Some of the books are more serious and others have plenty of humor with each having some suspense in them. The characters all cross over into each of the books so we get to continue to see how a previous couple is doing even after their book.

We were briefly introduced to Sam Flynn and Annabelle Goode in the first book. Sam was Hannah's childhood friend who she ran to when her stalker problem escalated. This book and all the future books totally take place in Stars Landing.

Annabelle comes to Stars Landing when she inherits herb farm from an distant Aunt. Sam owns the goat farm next door. For most of the book Annabelle dates both Sam and Eric who is the town mechanic. I am not a fan of love triangles especially when you really like both men (no worries though– Eric's story is the next book).

There is some light suspense along with the romance and of course we get to meet more of the town's quirky characters.

Great read! Love how the characters from the series blend together.

I ADORE this author, so when I saw this series I dived right in. It definitely is different then her other series, and I was excited for that. This series is much lighter then her other books.

SO why the three stars.....its more of my self preference then anything else. I am not into triangles and although I have read a couple of them by other authors that I actually enjoyed this one nope. I didn't like Anna throughout most of the book. I just couldn't feel her or connect with her. For someone who was suppose to be all innocent and good her actions awww heck no. It screamed user and hoe. But that's just me. Maybe its cause I actually fell and connected for Sam and Eric. Of which couldn't be more opposite if they tried, but bottom line they where good, kind men down to there marrow. SO seeing Anna back and forth and seeing the pain she caused Eric me no like. The book was well written and as a whole I enjoyed and liked all the characters. Its a good series, so don't let my personal inclination on triangles stop you.
