Family Dinner: A Tale of the Undead Mark C. Scioneaux

Late at night and far from home, a man is bitten by a crazed attacker at a roadside diner. He escapes with, he thinks, his life, but upon embarking on a journey to reunite with his wife and daughter, he realizes just what fate has been decided for him. Feeling the infection spreading, he pushes on to be with the family he loves, as society crumbles around him, to say one final goodbye.

Mark C. Scioneaux, co-owner of Nightscape Press, is a Bram Stoker Award® nominated editor and author, and a member of the Horror Writers Association. He is the coauthor of INSURGENT Z, SLIPWAY GREY, and CANNIBAL FAT CAMP. HOLLOW SHELL: A ZOMBIE EPIC is his on-going serial available for download on Kindle. His short stories have appeared in numerous anthologies. Mark is the founder of Horror for Good: A Charitable Anthology which sends all proceeds from book sales to amfAR, an international AIDS charity. I'm not used to reading short stories, which is sort of what this is. The writing was very well done. Very tense situation, good plot and character development. I just would have preferred a longer version :)
