Abbie says

It would be fun to go to camp, but I would miss my pet (if I had one) too! I can't believe green team won the color war! It was awesome! And I can't believe the meanest person at camp (and rudest) made them win by writing a poem. But the magic wind turned Katie into Alicia and Katie/Alicia let them down because she didn't go to the swim race. She was too scared she wouldn't win and people would make fun of Alicia and hate her even more.

Loved this book. I liked it because Katie made new friends even though they were not in the same cabin.

Mckinley says

I think this series would be fun reading for girls in 3-4 grade to read by themselves. Fun graphics add to the levity.

Jocelin says

Cute little story about a girl that can switch places with people. Great way of showing young readers what it is like to walk in other people's shoes; or in one instance some creature's paws. Super quick read. My niece left this at my home and I read it in less than 3 hours. Would have been done sooner but I was watching an episode of Law & Order: Criminal Intent.

Sydney says

when katie turns into a raccoon she has to eat nasty stuff which she doesn't like.

Maggie says

It would be fun to go to a camp just like Katie Kazoo, but it wouldn't be fun to go away from my family for 2 weeks! That's just too long to go away. Maybe when I'm older, I'll feel different about it and go to one.
