The Gospel in Ten Words Paul Ellis

The good news may be the best news you never heard! The good news declares there is nothing you can do to make God forgive you, accept you, or favor you because all the blessings of heaven are freely yours in Christ Jesus. They are lavished upon you according to the riches of his grace.

At a time when many are hearing mixed messages about the love of God, The Gospel in Ten Words is a welcome reminder of the good news revealed by Jesus. It is an invitation to return to the unmixed and liberating gospel of the apostles.

This book will take you to the heavenly treasure rooms of grace and leave you awestruck at the stunning goodness of God. You will discover the secret to walking in divine favor and experiencing freedom in every aspect of your life. You will learn who you really are and why you were born. Best of all, you will come face to face with the One who has called you to the thrilling adventure of living loved.

If only every person in the world would read this book so that they may hear the true good news of the gospel. There is so much religion and false teachings around which dilute or poison God's good news. A book for the hungry heart, thirsty soul and desperate seeker as well as the burdened down Christian who has been carrying a heavy load that God never intended when He sent Jesus to die. Well written, beautifully expressed and piercing straight to the heart.

This is an excellent book about the simple good news of Christianity. We're all tempted to muddy the waters and add to what God has done, but this book reminds us that Christianity is not about what we can do. It is about what God has done.

Very enjoyable read. Paul, in simple, childlike fashion, shares the good news of Christ's finished work on the cross by explaining ten words and how those words encapsulate the Gospel. Many people, even believers sadly spend their whole life not really tasting how good the Gospel really is. Paul does a great job of fixing that.

What if the Gospel you heard in churches was a counterfeit Gospel? When If God loved you apart from your good deeds? What if the Gospel declares that it is not about your performance but the life of Christ? What if I told you that God can never be disappointed by you cause He knows everything about you and loves you the same? These and other controversial questions are answered in this poignant book about the Grace of God. I recall reading some blogs on Paul Ellis a couple of years ago. Not only has he opened my understanding about what the Gospel was but dismissed all the lies I have been taught growing up. I was a preachers kid who did all the right things: avoided sin, did not go to parties, tithe faithfully from my income, did not listen to secular music, etc. Yet none of these things left me fulfilled, but empty, worthless and ignored.

It was not until a few years back, that God began to transform my thinking about God. I received an epiphany from God who told me that He loved me unconditionally. Whether I disobeyed Him or not, whether I am listen to secular music or not, whether I went to church faithfully or not. Whether I sinned or not, His love was not dependent on my behavior but on His undying love. I let go of tradition and now I am swimming in the wonders of His grace. I am free to do whatever I please, knowing that He directs my steps and He guides my path. It is so assuring to know of His grace is not only for unbelievers but for believers as well.

These ten words such as union, acceptance, righteousness, love and holiness has really changed my perspective on what those words actually mean.

The Gospel declares that it is not invitation to accept Jesus: it is the stunning announcement that He accepts you!

Lorna says

A refreshing read

Debby Kean says

This book is truly wonderful! (My only gripe is trivial - it irritates me that if the author is living in New Zealand and the book published there, why oh why is it written in American? That seems to trivialise everything some how.)

The plain explanation of the Gospel

This book is a clear explanation of the true Gospel and what Christ has done through the cross we are made to be the Righteousness of God in Christ Jesus. I recommend this as a must read to everyone.

Wynema Clark says

This is such a simple, easy to understand, uncovering of the truth. Paul Ellis has a powerful way with words and has forever changed the way I see the life I have in Christ. Why haven't we heard this our whole lives?

Margaret says

Well... This started out great! But for a book called : " The Gospel in Ten Words" it used a lot of words to say the same thing over and over again!

Very good. Easy read. Pointed out what Grace is and all Christ gave us through grace. Also explains the authority we have in Christ because of grace. We are the righteousness of God and this book explains what all this means and shows how organized religion has missed explaining the freedom we have through the gift of grace that Christ has provided.
